SECOND REVISION APPROVED:

CATEGORY:
Membership

NOTE: The first appearance of a term in bold in the body of this Policy (or its Appendixes) means that the term is defined in the Definitions part of this Policy.

PURPOSE:

This Policy outlines eligibility for membership in the Society, as well as the privileges and responsibilities of being a Society Member. This Policy supports the implementation of the Vision, Mission, Organizational Values, and Objects of the Society.

POLICY STATEMENT:

- The Society follows the Gaden Tripa Tradition of the Gelugpa Lineage of Tibetan Buddhism and welcomes any individual who has an interest in connecting with the teachings and philosophies of Tibetan Buddhism. Any individual who has an appreciation for the activities of the Society is welcome to apply to become a Society Member.
- The intention of this Policy is to facilitate a sense of belonging to a welcoming and comfortable place that supports spiritual growth. Through being a Society Member, individuals can develop a relationship with a uniquely qualified Spiritual Master who offers meaningful teachings and practices that benefit personal development. Due to the Spiritual Director's kindness, depth of knowledge, and wisdom, the benefit of the teachings continuously increases as an individual's own understanding grows. As part of a spiritual community, Society Members benefit from being part of a group that is pursuing similar spiritual goals. Their growth is supported by the opportunity to contribute back to the Society for the benefit of others. Becoming a Society Member also creates more opportunities for timely communication around upcoming events, access to the Dharma library, and several other benefits as outlined below.

- A Membership Matrix (see Appendix A to this Policy) has been created to allow prospective members to determine which category of membership is the best fit for them. As a Society Member's interest and involvement grows over time, they will see that the Membership Matrix is dynamic and offers increasing privileges and responsibilities that suit their spiritual needs.

APPLICABILITY:

This Policy applies to any individual seeking membership in the Society.

POLICY ELEMENTS:

1. Non-discrimination

All individuals age 12 or older are welcome to apply for membership regardless of race, national or ethnic origin, gender identity or expression, sexual orientation, cultural background, or disability.

2. Upholding the Lineage

The Gaden Tripa Tradition of the Gelugpa Lineage of Tibetan Buddhism is the foundation of the Society. Upholding this spiritual lineage is of vital importance, not only to the Society but also to Society Members' attainment of the fruits of their study and practice.

3. Voting Rights

Recognizing that voting rights have the potential to influence the future direction of the Society, these rights are reserved for Jewel Members and Vajra Members (who are Voting Members) as they have made a personal choice to become more involved and invested in the affairs of the Society.

4. Membership Categories

4.1 Categories were developed to support Society Members in becoming conscientious of several key points when choosing a membership category. More specifically, membership decisions can now explicitly reflect the individual's interest in the Society's Vision, Mission, Organizational Values, and Objects. When selecting their category of preferred membership, individuals may choose a membership that reflects their level of devotion to the lineage and preferred level of participation in the Society's programs.

4.2 There are 4 categories of membership in the Society. The Honorary Life Member category is reserved for the Spiritual Director(s). The 3 remaining membership classes are: 1) Lotus Member, 2) Jewel Member, and 3) Vajra Member. Any individual is welcome to apply for either the Lotus Member or Jewel Member category in accordance with their interest and involvement. Membership in the Vajra Member category is for existing Society Members who are invited to that category by the Spiritual Director.

- 4.3 The criteria, privileges, and responsibilities for all membership categories are outlined in the Membership Matrix in Appendix A to this Policy. The Membership Structure is outlined in the diagram in Appendix B to this Policy.

5. Program Participation

- 5.1 The anticipated program participation rates noted as responsibilities in the Membership Matrix are presented to help Society Members better understand what level of involvement is most supportive of their spiritual growth. Programs include multi-week courses, weekly teachings and practices, and retreats. The rates are an average in recognition that life events sometimes make it difficult to attend regularly for a short period of time. Participation tracking is self-managed by each Society Member. Society Members are asked to be mindful of their intended attendance when considering which membership category is the best fit for them.
- 5.2 For prospective members who live outside Edmonton and are therefore not able to participate in multi-week courses or weekly teachings and practices, the participation rate for those is waived. But it is the Society's hope that Society Members living outside Edmonton will still take advantage of the opportunity to attend retreats and other events offered on weekends or during holiday periods.

6. Discounts

- 6.1 Discounts are offered for selected events to allow the Society to recognize Society Members for their support. Society Members who are investing more time in the Society are offered a higher level of discount in recognition of the volunteer hours they are dedicating to the Society.
- 6.2 The Society Office (not the Society Member) will calculate the amount of the discount and advise the Society Member of the amount payable for the event. If payment is made in cash, the Society Office will round the discount up to the nearest $1.

7. Membership Fees

Membership fees are an investment in the Society. However, membership fees should not preclude individuals from applying. Any individual who feels they cannot afford the fee as stated is encouraged to contact the President or Vice-President to discuss an alternate fee. A family rate discount will be considered if a second member from the same household contributes an equal or greater level of volunteer service.

8. Suggested Monthly Donations

As a registered non-profit society, the Society relies on Society Members' generosity to operate the Society's facilities, programs, and events. Offering a regular monthly donation is the best way to help the Society continue to exist for the benefit of others. Monthly donations, which are optional, are particularly helpful as they stabilize the revenue flowing into the Society and make managing the facilities, programs, and events much more predictable.

9. Application Process

Any individual interested in becoming a Society Member or renewing their membership is required to do the following:

- a) Review the Membership Matrix to determine which membership category is the best fit;
- b) Print the current membership form from the Society's website;
- c) Fully complete the form; and
- d) Submit the form along with payment to the Society Office.

10. Membership Term, New Member Admission, and Membership Renewal

- 10.1 Memberships expire annually on December 31 of each calendar year, with the exception of the Honorary Life Member which has no expiry date. Memberships cannot be transferred to another individual (non-transferable).
- 10.2 Individuals wishing to apply for a new membership are welcome to apply at any time of year. Membership fees are pro-rated according to the month the new Society Member's application is submitted. The membership is effective the date the payment is processed.
- 10.3 Existing Society Members who wish to renew their membership need to submit a completed application and payment to the Society Office before December 31. Membership renewal takes effect January 1 of the following calendar year.
- 10.4 Society Members who wish to change their membership category outside of the annual application or renewal process are asked to contact the President or Vice-President to discuss their request. The Society Member will be notified whether their request is accepted within 30 days and, if approved, will be asked to make a pro-rated payment for any increased fee difference. There will be no reimbursement of fees when a Society Member chooses to change their membership to a different membership category with a lower fee.

11. Withdrawal

A Society Member may request in writing that their membership be withdrawn. There will be no reimbursement of fees when a Society Member chooses to withdraw their membership.

12. Member Conduct

All Society Members are expected to demonstrate behaviour that is in accordance with the Tibetan Buddhist teachings on ethics. For details see Policy 12.2 Society Members' Code of Conduct and Discipline.

13. Suspension and Expulsion

13.1 Society Members who fail to abide by Policy 12.2 Society Members' Code of Conduct may be subject to suspension or expulsion at the discretion of the Spiritual Director (see Policy 3.2 Responsibilities of the Spiritual Director). For details see Policy 12.2 Society Members' Code of Conduct and Discipline.

13.2 Once the Spiritual Director has made a decision to suspend or expel a Society Member, the Spiritual Director will notify the President verbally of the decision. The President will instruct the Secretary in writing to remove the individual from the Register of Society Members. The Secretary will notify the individual in writing of their suspension or expulsion, noting the date that the decision takes effect.
